Foreword

If change is the catalyst for progress, we engineers are the driver of the change. It is with great pleasure that I present to you the HKIE Yearbook 2024.

The theme I adopted for this Session "We Engineer, We Serve" encapsulates the essence of our role as engineers in making a positive impact on the world around us. Along with the motto "Be the Change," we emphasise the transformative potential within each of us and encourage everyone to harness that power to create a better future.

Despite the volatility of the global environment, the challenges have brought out the resilience, adaptability, and ingenuity of engineers. As ambassadors of the engineering profession, we recognise the significance of nurturing and inspiring future generations. Our resourcefulness has to be communicated effectively, and only through such compelling stories that can ignite the next generation's interest in the engineering profession, and inspire them to become the trailblazing engineers of tomorrow.

This year, we dedicated greater effort in reaching out to professional counterparts locally, regionally, and internationally. We made significant strides in securing increased mutual recognition of qualifications, thereby expanding the recognition of our esteemed members. Furthermore, we have organised a multitude of knowledge exchange and dialogue sessions, empowering our members with the essential professional knowledge they require. Additionally, we have actively engaged with young members and the broader non-engineering community, enhancing the transition and passing on of the torch to the next generation.

The Hong Kong Engineers Week 2024 is a manifestation of our unwavering commitment towards the long-term viability of the engineering profession, a critical foundation for the sustained growth of our city and the global community at large. This remarkable event encompassed a diverse array of engaging activities and initiatives tailored for our esteemed members, industry practitioners, students across different educational levels, and extended its reach to include participants from the Greater Bay Area for building stronger ties with regional counterparts.

In the preparation of the HKIE Yearbook 2024, my heartfelt appreciation and gratitude go to both the HKIE Secretariat and our advertisers for their dedication and support, which have been instrumental in our journey of change and advancement.

As we navigate the ever-changing landscape, we have the power to shape the future of engineering. Together, let us harness the power of change and engineer a future that inspires, serves, and transforms.

Sustainability: Key to Blossoming Future

As an energy company with the longest history in Hong Kong, our pioneering spirit has always been underpinned by emphasising the public good. We have not only taken the initiative to conserve energy and reduce emissions through utilising clean energy, such as hydrogen energy, photovoltaic and other renewables, but also upheld our commitment to corporate social responsibility, as evident in our efforts in doing our best to help the underprivileged in society.

Throughout our growth, we have been making the achievement of an excellent environment, social and governance (ESG) performance a top priority across our operation, in order to ensure great business resilience to overcome various challenges. We shall continue to invest in projects contributing towards decarbonisation as we join the rest of the world in tackling climate change, while adding value to safeguard the interests of our stakeholders for positive impact.

瑞安建業 SOCAM DEVELOPMENT

SOCAM was listed on the main board of the Stock Exchange of Hong Kong in February 1997. The newly listed company combined the construction business of the Shui On Group, which was the founding business of Shui On since 1971, as well as Shui On's construction materials operations. SOCAM's early focus was on Hong Kong.

The Group played a prominent part in Hong Kong's construction boom which saw a considerable increase in private and public sector works in the late 1990s. Our construction subsidiaries, Shui On Construction and Shui On Building Contractors, stood out among their competitors in public housing construction and in prominent design and-build contracts. The Group's construction materials division also prospered alongside the construction boom.

By the end of the 1990s, SOCAM had been seeking long term sustainable growth by diversifying our business. Today, SOCAM enjoyed a strong position in its construction and property business sectors. Building on our roots in Hong Kong, our construction business continue to play a robust role in the public sector construction and have successfully expanded into maintenance and interior fitting-out works. In Mainland China, SOCAM is taking proactive steps on asset enhancement of our retail properties.
